

CEO SEARCH FOR A GLOBAL TECHNOLOGY COMPANY

Our client is a globally operating tech company with HQ in Finland and it has offices in Silicon Valley and Asia. It is a growth company that consolidates its industries local small offices under one global tech platform to be able to reach millions of users in the BtoB field.

They have grown with their current CEO to the level they are now, and our task was to build a profile for the next big leap while continuing rapid M&A in their field also in the future. New CEO could be coming anywhere from the world even though the preferred location was HQ in Finland where most of the team is located.

Within five-six weeks we were presenting candidates and within 2 months from the start, we closed this successful assignment. The prerequisite for a successful project like this was that the Finnish Taplow had wide experience of similar roles in various industries and was able to use their experience for the benefit of the customer, but also for the candidate. Frequent multi-way communicating and reporting to the client was also a key success factor.
